Wallace hires new town manager

Abby Cavendish

Staff Writer

WALLACE — The town of Wallace has hired a new manager. The Wallace Town Council held a special meeting on Monday, March 13, to appoint Travis Gore. Gore, a native of Clinton who now lives in Conway, has served as the town’s manager since 2002 and has served since then.

Two candidates, incumbent Sheriff Blake Wallace and candidate Harvey Stroud, will face off in the May 8 Democratic primary. Wallace also added that seizure operations were ongoing, with two reported entrapments on the pipeline Monday evening took the life of a 10-year-old boy.

The project, called Opti-

KV, involves the use of two local farms in the country where it is cleared and injected into the pipeline. Opti-KV is a collaboration between local farmers, Smithfield Foods, investors and Cavanaugh Pipeline Inc.

When Wallace took over in November, he realized that the previous department had not had a new manager in seven years.

He said the idea of using the drugs, not dealing them, was that instead of selling drugs in the community, the drugs would be used to treat mental illness instead.

Gus Simmons, director of bioenergy for Cavanaugh Associates, said the gas was pumped into the pipeline for the first time on March 23. “The fact that we have five participating farms is a tremendous success. This is the only way we can do this project like this. So it may be the first project in the state’s 100 boards of elections last week. The board could perform no other business. The board must also decide on a board chair. The board agreed to let the state decide on a board chair.

This young lady will be blessed with another child. Grabowski added, “Respondents operated like a team of professionals, all working for a common purpose. It takes a special person to do this.”

Trevor Norman can be reached at trevor.norman@nwnews.com.

Head-on crash ends in tragedy in Warsaw

The Silver Alert was issued for Butts last Monday after he reportedly left the Wallace Police Place facility in Kenansville, formerly called Windham Hall. Butts reportedly suffers from some kind of mental disability, leading police to call in a specialized unit of the Duplin County Sheriff’s Office in case of any emergency.

The first item of business after the swearing-in of the new members was the election of a chair, which board, which member.

Sandler nominated Penny as vice chair, and Republicans Roland Penny and Linwood Sanderson, who has previously served.

In a statement posted online, Warsaw Fire Department Battalion Chief Lee Graham wrote that "Responders are called Windham Hall. (910) 296-0239

“Wallace is such a great place to work in. Wallace has been a heavy prior,” he said.

He said that since the sitting government is a Democrat, the chair of the county’s elections board must also be a Democrat. Sanderson nominated Jiminez for the chair position, and it was seconded by Penny. Jiminez then nominated herself, noting Jiminez’s lack of experience serving on the board. Jiminez agreed, and seconded Jiminez’s decision. When it came to a vote, it was 2-2 along party lines. It was the state that decided on a board chair.

Graham added, “Respondents are the most important person in the organization. It takes a special person to do this.”

Trevor Normile can be reached at trevor.normile@nwnews.com.

The Silver Alert was issued for Butts last Monday after he reportedly left the Wallace Police Place facility in Kenansville, formerly called Windham Hall. Butts reportedly suffers from some kind of mental disability, leading police to call in a specialized unit of the Duplin County Sheriff’s Office in case of any emergency.

The first item of business after the swearing-in of the new members was the election of a chair, which board, which member.

Sandler nominated Penny as vice chair, and Republicans Roland Penny and Linwood Sanderson, who has previously served.

In a statement posted online, Warsaw Fire Department Battalion Chief Lee Graham wrote that "Responders are called Windham Hall. (910) 296-0239

“Wallace is such a great place to work in. Wallace has been a heavy prior,” he said.

He said that since the sitting government is a Democrat, the chair of the county’s elections board must also be a Democrat. Sanderson nominated Jiminez for the chair position, and it was seconded by Penny. Jiminez then nominated herself, noting Jiminez’s lack of experience serving on the board. Jiminez agreed, and seconded Jiminez’s decision. When it came to a vote, it was 2-2 along party lines. It was the state that decided on a board chair.

Graham added, “Respondents are the most important person in the organization. It takes a special person to do this.”

Trevor Normile can be reached at trevor.normile@nwnews.com.

“Wallace is such a great place to work in. Wallace has been a heavy prior,” he said.

He said that since the sitting government is a Democrat, the chair of the county’s elections board must also be a Democrat. Sanderson nominated Jiminez for the chair position, and it was seconded by Penny. Jiminez then nominated herself, noting Jiminez’s lack of experience serving on the board. Jiminez agreed, and seconded Jiminez’s decision. When it came to a vote, it was 2-2 along party lines. It was the state that decided on a board chair.

Graham added, “Respondents are the most important person in the organization. It takes a special person to do this.”

Trevor Normile can be reached at trevor.normile@nwnews.com.

“Wallace is such a great place to work in. Wallace has been a heavy prior,” he said.

He said that since the sitting government is a Democrat, the chair of the county’s elections board must also be a Democrat. Sanderson nominated Jiminez for the chair position, and it was seconded by Penny. Jiminez then nominated herself, noting Jiminez’s lack of experience serving on the board. Jiminez agreed, and seconded Jiminez’s decision. When it came to a vote, it was 2-2 along party lines. It was the state that decided on a board chair.

Graham added, “Respondents are the most important person in the organization. It takes a special person to do this.”

Trevor Normile can be reached at trevor.normile@nwnews.com.

“Wallace is such a great place to work in. Wallace has been a heavy prior,” he said.

He said that since the sitting government is a Democrat, the chair of the county’s elections board must also be a Democrat. Sanderson nominated Jiminez for the chair position, and it was seconded by Penny. Jiminez then nominated herself, noting Jiminez’s lack of experience serving on the board. Jiminez agreed, and seconded Jiminez’s decision. When it came to a vote, it was 2-2 along party lines. It was the state that decided on a board chair.

Graham added, “Respondents are the most important person in the organization. It takes a special person to do this.”

Trevor Normile can be reached at trevor.normile@nwnews.com.

“Wallace is such a great place to work in. Wallace has been a heavy prior,” he said.

He said that since the sitting government is a Democrat, the chair of the county’s elections board must also be a Democrat. Sanderson nominated Jiminez for the chair position, and it was seconded by Penny. Jiminez then nominated herself, noting Jiminez’s lack of experience serving on the board. Jiminez agreed, and seconded Jiminez’s decision. When it came to a vote, it was 2-2 along party lines. It was the state that decided on a board chair.

Graham added, “Respondents are the most important person in the organization. It takes a special person to do this.”

Trevor Normile can be reached at trevor.normile@nwnews.com.

“Wallace is such a great place to work in. Wallace has been a heavy prior,” he said.

He said that since the sitting government is a Democrat, the chair of the county’s elections board must also be a Democrat. Sanderson nominated Jiminez for the chair position, and it was seconded by Penny. Jiminez then nominated herself, noting Jiminez’s lack of experience serving on the board. Jiminez agreed, and seconded Jiminez’s decision. When it came to a vote, it was 2-2 along party lines. It was the state that decided on a board chair.

Graham added, “Respondents are the most important person in the organization. It takes a special person to do this.”

Trevor Normile can be reached at trevor.normile@nwnews.com.

“Wallace is such a great place to work in. Wallace has been a heavy prior,” he said.

He said that since the sitting government is a Democrat, the chair of the county’s elections board must also be a Democrat. Sanderson nominated Jiminez for the chair position, and it was seconded by Penny. Jiminez then nominated herself, noting Jiminez’s lack of experience serving on the board. Jiminez agreed, and seconded Jiminez’s decision. When it came to a vote, it was 2-2 along party lines. It was the state that decided on a board chair.

Graham added, “Respondents are the most important person in the organization. It takes a special person to do this.”

Trevor Normile can be reached at trevor.normile@nwnews.com.